Excellence is no accident

Tyler McKinney, Mason West and Solomon Williams

"Build Me A Better School Challenge", was a fundraiser that asked students to create videos of what they would do "If you build me a better school". Students and the organizers used personal contacts and social media to campaign for $5 votes of the videos. The student with the most votes won the challenge, which was up to one years tuition and expenses at Pine Forge Academy.

Two Academy students, Tyler McKinney (left) and Solomon Williams (right) created videos and raised $14,025 in two months. Tyler McKinney won the competition with the most video votes. The balance of Tyler McKinney's student account at the competition end was, $10,937.65. Thus, Solomon Williams was also a winner, receiving, $3,087.64
